

MORNING APPEAL.

Friday, June 16 1896

NOT A PARTY ISSUE.

The Anti-Chinese question in Ormsby is in no way a party issue although several persons are industrious in making it appear that the Republican party in this county is a pro-Chinese party.

The platform of the last Republican Convention held in this State pronounced strongly against Mongolian invasion, and the Republican party on this Coast has for years past been most pronounced against it.

When we hear a Democrat making the assertion that the Republican party in Ormsby is for the Chinese, we set it down at once that he does not want the Chinese to go, but wants the Republican party to go.

The APPEAL, from a careful inspection of the signers of the anti-Chinese covenant makes the assertion that there are more Republican than Democratic names on the list. We challenge any Democrat to the contrary. Therefore when one hears a Democrat making the ridiculous assertion that the fight for the Chinese is made by the Republican party as a party proposition, it is as clear as glass that his connection with the movement is for political purposes only. We hold that both parties desire the absence of these unwelcome visitors as soon as possible and it is nonsense for anybody to try and make out that any party is befriending them. Isolated instances do not make an argument against a whole party and any man who makes such an argument can be set down as desiring that the Chinese should stay here until after the election. The APPEAL repeats the assertion that any man who wants the Chinese out of Ormsby will be willing to put up one dollar a month, to buy them out as they have in other localities. Had each member of the League contributed one dollar a month toward buying out the wash houses and vegetable dealers, these same wash men and vegetable men would have been in China before this.

A man who shouts out that he would down his life for the cause, and then refuses to give a dollar a month to help the cause, is as big a hypocrite as he is a humbug.

WASTED OPPORTUNITIES.

The Reno Gazette has published a series of articles upon the agricultural development of the State, and urges a system of storing water in huge reservoirs in the winter to be used in the summer.

The Silver State replies: As the State at the present time owes about $500,000, while the cash in the Treasury last week was less than $30,000, it cannot enter upon any extensive irrigation scheme without borrowing money, and it is not probable that the taxpayers would consent to that. However, no harm can result from a discussion of the subject, and the Gazette should give the public some practical idea of what should be done by the State to secure the water and dispose of it advantageously.

The State is in debt simply because for years past it has neglected its opportunities of self improvement.

The streams of water gliding down the mountain side and over our plains, in the winter, to be lost in the sink of the desert is just so much money running away.

The Gazette's idea is practical, and the only salvation of the State lies in some scheme by which this water can be utilized.

The ancient nations of the earth did this thousands of years ago, and from small beginnings grew into rich kingdoms, and the ruins of their vast reservoirs and aqueducts are still the wonder of travelers. As long as they stuck to agriculture and public improvement, they fattened and prospered, and they went to ruin by buying too many wars on their hands. No man should be allowed to run on a legislative ticket who is not squarely pledged upon this question. It is a matter which but for the stupidity of representatives in the Legislature would have been attended to long ago.

The movement against the Chinese received a big set back when the Democratic combination got it and tried to run it as a political proposition.
